LONDON, Dec. 15.—Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, president of the Reichsbank, sought today to heal the breach in Anglo-German relations caused by the Nazi boycott against Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain's speech before the Foreign Press association.

Schacht, who arrived here yesterday for an "unofficial" visit, found considerable evidence that the attitude of the British government toward the totalitarian powers is stiffening.

In addition to Chamberlain's comments on the instability of governments and his forthright criticism of the German press, Schacht was confronted with the prime minister's warning, voiced in the House of Commons, that any Italian attempt to alter the territorial status quo in the Mediterranean area would cause "grave concern" in London.

According to German circles in London, Chamberlain's assertion that no form of government ever remains the same was the real reason for the boycott by Ambassador Herbert von Dirksen and German correspondents of the press association dinner Tuesday night.

PA NEW OBSERVES

Historians who have been looking up data regarding Fyrmating dam have unearthed the information that the area covered by the reservoir was many years ago the favorite hunting grounds of the Delaware Indians. We imagine there was some big game hiding around in the thickets and swamps in those days. Now after many years it's to become a favorite hunting ground again, but this time for the white man. Wouldn't the Indians be surprised to come back now and see a lake covering over sixteen thousand acres of land?

In buying Christmas presents some folks pay a lot of attention to purchasing things that will be useful to the recipients. They like to buy articles that they know their friends desire, on the theory that such gifts will be more highly appreciated. Probably they will, but there is also considerable pleasure in receiving an unexpected gift. We all like to get something that comes in the nature of a surprise, so its best not to be too practical in our giving.

John L. Morrison, editor of the Greenville Record-Argus, was browsing down around Zelleone one day this week, and his inquiring mind sought the reason for the name of the place. He learned that Zelleone was named for Zelle Base, a popular little gal in the early 1800's. There are two other "nipples" in the world, "Constant" and "Adrian". The little girl's full name was Wilhelmmina, but they called her "Zelle" for short. It's not often that a girl's nickname is preserved in the name of a town.

We'll have congress on our hands again in a few weeks, and from advance reports it looks as though it's going to be another session of wrangling with very little in the way of constructive legislation accomplished. There are so many committees out investigating everything.

No Political Tieup To Movie Job, Is Assertion Of James Roosevelt

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, Dec. 15.—With a denial that his new movie job had any political tie-up James Roosevelt, the president's eldest son, headed east today to get down to work.

Between trains from the west coast, young Roosevelt declared in a press interview in Chicago yesterday that he had been criticized in some quarters for accepting an executive position with the Samuel Goldwyn studios because of a pending government monopoly investigation of the film industry.

"I just want to say," he explained, "I am out of politics. I am going to work in the motion picture industry as a private citizen."

"Mr. Goldwyn and myself happen to agree personally with the government's position in favor of separation of the producing companies from their ownership and operation. The company with which I am associated is not named in any of the government's suits."

In commenting on the appointment of his mother, Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, as director of the insurance company of which he was formerly a partner, "Jimmy" was asked what her salary would be on the new job. He laughed.

"She'll be lucky if she gets carfare to and from the meetings. She'll simply sit in to watch over my interests."

France Declares Any Attempt To Take Territory Will Result In War

ROME, Dec. 15.—British and French warnings to Italy against any move to annex the North African French protectorate of Tunisia received a cold reception in Rome today.

Authoritative quarters, interpreted the declaration by British Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain and French foreign minister Georges Bonnet on this question as a double action attempt to bring Italy into the open and maneuver Rome into making her desires for Tunisia known officially.

Unofficial Moves
So far, fascist desires to take over Tunisia and other French territories have been revealed in an "unofficial" or "informal" manner.

Prime Minister Chamberlain's declaration took the form of a statement in the British house of commons that any Italian attempts to alter the territorial status quo in the Mediterranean would cause "grave concern" in London.

In Paris, Bonnet told the foreign affairs committee of the chamber of deputies that "France will never yield any part of her territory to Italy. Any attempt to take territory would only result in war."

Italian circles considered that each of these alleged attempts to maneuver Italy into an official statement.

Hospital Patient Is Shot To Death

Police Officers Guarding Him
Is Also Critically Wounded By Intruder

(International News Service)
SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 15.—Slaking into a ward of the St. Francisco hospital, an enraged brother today shot and killed his sister's divorced husband and critically wounded a police officer guarding the patient.

The victim, Morris Kornpropst, was in the hospital recovering from a gunshot wound inflicted by his ex-wife, Sue Daily, last month when he entered her home and attacked members of the family, seriously slaying the mother and sister-in-law.

Kornpropst was facing a charge of attempted murder.

Opening fire without warning, the brother, who police said was George Daily, killed Kornpropst, and then fired at Policeman Walter Salisbury as the officer rushed at him. The slug caught Salisbury in the abdomen.

He was rushed to an operating room and a police bulletin was flashed asking that donors of blood be located immediately.

As he stood with the smoking pistol in his hand, another orderly, John Buscovich, tackled him, wrested the gun away and clubbed him to the floor with the death weapon. He was taken into custody.

Condition Of Mrs. Hardman Is Unchanged

Woman Shot When Husband
Ran Amuck Near Darlington May Die

(International News Service)
BEAVER FALLS, Pa., Dec. 15.—Physicians today held little hope for the life of Mrs. Rose Hardman, 47, wife of Robert Hardman, W.P.A. worker who ran amuck Tuesday and shot four persons before committing suicide.

Attaches at the Providence hospital, Beaver Falls, today said that the condition of Mrs. Hardman was "still very poor."

The woman, mother of eight children, was shot through the head after her husband failed to effect a reconciliation with her. Hardman, who had gone to visit relatives in Tennessee on the advice of a local "squire" returned to his home five miles west of Darlington, apparently in hopes of patching up his domestic troubles.

When his wife refused to pay any attention to him, police related, Hardman hung around the farm and then suddenly pulled out a revolver, wounded his daughter-in-law, Mrs. Dorothy Davis Hardman, 23; Chester Dickey, 24; and Raymond Fessell, 24, both from Rodgers, O., before shooting his wife and then jamming the muzzle of the gun down his throat and pulling the trigger.

The three other persons were not seriously wounded.

Soviet Spy Suspect Arrests Are Cause Of Sensation On Coast

(International News Service)
LOS ANGELES, Dec. 15.—Up and down the Pacific coast events stirred today in the wake of the sensational Soviet spy suspect arrests in Los Angeles.

While Mikhail Gorin and Halls Salich remained closely guarded in the county jail, each under $25,000 bond, Mikhail Ivanovich Ivanushkin, Soviet vice-consul in New York, was speeding westward by plane to seek an immediate interview with Gorin, said by federal agents to be the "big shot" of the pair under arrest for espionage activities.

Ivanushkin, under instructions from Konstantin Gurnansky, Soviet Charge D'Affaires at Washington, was expected to arrive early today to investigate the charges made by federal agents that Salich and Gorin transmitted to the Soviet government confidential national defense measures and highly secretive navy matters, including information concerning Japanese as well as American affairs.

LIMA, Peru, Dec. 15.—A declaration of American "solidarity and conscience" began to take shape today at the eighth Pan-American conference as a compromise between the Argentine and United States plans for some sort of agreement on inter-American moral co-operation against outside aggression.

The delegations to the conference today worked intensively on the text of the agreement which is expected to meet Argentine objections to the American project for a "gentlemen's agreement" which would have been the basis of a continental pact for mutual defense.

Several delegations, including that of the United States, had not yet expressed their acceptance today of the new type declaration which, it is expected, will reflect the view of Argentine Foreign Minister Jose Maria Canill that no danger of foreign aggression of a sort requiring a continental mutual defense pact exists at this time.

Fifteen Hundred Industrial Leaders In Formal
Tour Of Plant

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Dec. 15.—More than 1,500 leaders of the country's industrial and commercial life today inspected the formal opening of Carnegie-Illinois Steel Company's new $65,000,000 Irvin Works, near Clairton, nine miles southeast of Pittsburgh.

They arrived in Pittsburgh round 8 o'clock this morning by special trains from New York, Cleveland, Detroit, Chicago, San Francisco and other cities. They left Pittsburgh at 10:30 a. m., arriving at Clairton about 11 a. m.

The new plant is built for peaceful purposes but, it was pointed out, it would be a great factor for national reliance in the event the United States became involved in war.

Carnegie-Illinois is a subsidiary of the United States Steel Corporation. The new plant, known as the "mill on the hill" because it is located 227 feet above the Monongahela river, is designed to greatly improve the corporation's output of lighter steels.

The mill, situated on top of Camden Hill, will have an annual capacity of 100,000 tons of finished plate and 500,000 tons of steel, steel and strip. The plant has fifty one and one-half acres under roof and is served with thirteen and one-half miles of railroad.

Operating on a capacity basis, the Irvin plant is designed to use the service of 4,000 employees.

Organize Safe Driving School Council Here

Meeting in the Federal building on the public square a group of officials and civic organization representatives on Wednesday afternoon organized a Safe Driving School Council. The purpose of the council is to promote and develop the safe driving schools which have been operating under the auspices of the motor police, WPA and New Castle Motor Club.

Officers of the new council named are General Chairman B. N. Hamilton, Vice chairman Mayor Charles E. McGrath. It is proposed to develop interest in safety and safe driving school by talks, demonstrations and the awakening of public interest in safety.

The following organizations were represented. City of New Castle, New Castle Motor Club, Rotary Club, Junior Chamber of Commerce, American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Elks, Lawrence County Auto Dealers, and the post office department.

Safety and the drive on safe methods of operating motor vehicles has paid tremendous dividends in the past few years. The casualty lists have been reduced, lives have been saved, property has been conserved and pain and suffering lessened.

With the organization of similar councils over the state it is anticipated that still further progress will be made towards safe highways and streets.

HARRISBURG, Dec. 15.—The sweeping graft charges that for seven months have raked the Democrats and altered the tempo of Pennsylvania politics were committed at last to a "searching and yet impartial investigation" by a Dauphin county grand jury today.

The September grand jury composed of 11 Republicans and 11 Democrats as one member was excused, received the charge of special Judge Paul N. Schaeffer in open court starting shortly after 10 a. m.

Upon completion of the charge the grand jury was escorted to its special headquarters several blocks from the courthouse. Judge Schaeffer went into a conference with newspapermen covering the proceedings.

Solemn Duty
"You have been called to perform a serious and solemn duty," the Berks county jurist, named by the supreme court to conduct the proceedings, told the jury. "The fair name of your state, the proper administration of justice and the proper conduct of the state government, which you are about to undertake. Do your duty fearlessly and with a due sense of your solemn obligation and responsibility."

"With the admonition ever to keep that obligation before you, we commit this investigation to you."

The long juror excused was Trevor Lewis, Williamsport, who pleaded poor physical condition because of a recent stomach operation. Jimmy Deshong, Harrisburg baseball player, was also excused.

Fine Was Decried In Punishment For Assassination Of Embassy Secretary

NEXT PAYMENT IS DUE FEBRUARY 15

By PIERRE J. HUSS

(Copyright 1938, INS)
BERLIN, Dec. 15.—The treasury of the German Reich was swelled today by 250,000,000 marks ($100,000,000) from the pockets of German Jews with individual fortunes of more than 5,000 marks, who thus completed payment of the first of four levies of the $400,000,000 fine imposed on the German Jewish community.

The fine was decreed in punishment for the assassination of Ernst von Rath, German embassy secretary in Paris, by a German-born Polish Jew.

Fear Retribution
Fully aware that swift retribution would be meted out for failure to pay their shares within the first levy deadline, many Jews turned everywhere during the past week in order to make the payments.

They paid for the most part in cash, while hundreds who were unable to unfreeze enough assets to meet the deadline were helped by wealthier friends and relatives.

The next payment, which is due February 15, can be paid in stocks, securities and real estate.

Wealthy German Jews living abroad with capital or property in Germany, will be permitted to use the blocked mark account to meet the installment.

In many cases, authorities have disregarded the rule that the first payment must be made in cash, accepting shares, bonds and similar investments on the ground that subsequent decrees have forbidden the Jews to sell their securities.

player with the Washington Senators, asked to be released from jury service, adding that it was not "necessary" until Feb. 1, when the baseball season practice begins. Judge Schaeffer agreed to consider the request at that time, six weeks hence.

The 16-page charge outlined for the grand jury the general scope of their investigation, listing the principal accusations brought against Gov. George H. Earle and 13 other Democrats, and defining their legal meaning.

The judge justified the use of the grand jury—the heart of the controversy that bounced in and out of the Dauphin county and state supreme courts for the seven months starting last April 29—by declaring it "an integral and indispensable part of the criminal courts of Pennsylvania."

Only a grand jury may indict, he told the jurors. "Even if a felonious homicide should be committed before and in the presence of all the justices of the supreme court," he declared, the offender could not be brought to trial without first having been indicted by a grand jury.

No Decision On Inventory Plan

Council Expects To Make Decision In Matter By Next Thursday

COUNCIL URGED TO TAKE ACTION

Pending an inquiry as to whether or not approximately $1,000,000 in possession of the Mayor's Committee on relief may be obtained and contributed to the city as its share of cost, action was delayed today on a request that the council order start on the proposed and approved project for an inventory of real estate here.

The inquiry will be made by Arthur Johnston of the S.W.O.C. and John Grittle of the C.U.O. and C.I.O. Pending such an investigation, J. W. Ely, in charge of the W.P.A. professional project division, this city, informed council the time period for starting the inventory would be held open until an answer would be given next Thursday. Previously, council had been informed that the "dead line" would be today.

In addressing council, Ely informed members that the city would require approximately $1,000,000 as a sponsor's share and the federal government would provide approximately $28,000.

John Grittle asserted the organization he represented favored the proposed project ahead of beautification of parks. He argued that W.P.A. men now working would be kept at work, if the move was launched.

Johnston declared that the inventory, a step to a housing program, could prove valuable. He declared that a housing program would do more toward national recovery than an armament program.

Mayor Charles E. McGrath explained that an inventory would not result in any unemployed being granted WPA jobs and that it would provide work for only one man.

In reply, Ely stated that with a reduction of workers rolls ordered and no new assignments being made by the W.P.A. it would result in white collar workers now on construction projects being transferred.

Ely said there are draftsmen, clerks and others in a position to work on the inventory being transferred to that division. Their wage would be raised from about $57 minimum wage to $66, with a $83 maximum.

Mayor McGrath pointed out the regulations called for the information gathered to be kept in possession of the co-ordinating committee. Ely maintained this can be changed by a resolution adopted by council and the city can keep the records.

The information collected, however, it was pointed out by Mayor Charles E. McGrath, cannot be used for tax purposes. Ely declared the records could be given to council.

Johnston developed that inasmuch as council had expressed a lack of funds that money now in possession of the mayor's relief committee be used as a sponsor's share.

He said he would investigate such a possibility. As council had indicated, no action on the project would be taken today. Ely extended the time period for an answer until one week from today.

During the discussion Mayor McGrath asserted that requests for projects which would cost the city $153,000 had been received and petitioners for these improvements consider them equally as important as the requested real estate inventory.

Chester Sweezy also appeared before the council and said he is interested in the American Legionnaires finding work and believed the expenditure by council in view of the federal expenditure would be good business.

regarding her desire for Tunisia are "doomed to failure" for the time being.

Await Chamberlain's Visit
Authoritative circle expressed certainty, however, that when Chamberlain makes his scheduled visit to Italy next month, Italy will make her "claims to Tunisia" quite clear.

Informed fascists quarters, meanwhile resorted to argument to counter Chamberlain's contention that the Tunisian question comes within the framework of Italy's pledge-made in the Anglo-Italian accord—to maintain the existing Mediterranean territorial status.

It was claimed that England through Chamberlain's declaration, accepted the principle that Italy's "just aspirations" would be taken into consideration.

Rome, Dec. 15.—Achille Starace, secretary general of the fascist party today ordered all fascists to resign from the Italo-French parliamentary union and from the Pro-French Italian union of war veterans.

The order was designed to harden Italian hostility to France and to stress the lack of sympathy between the two nations in view of the dispute over Tunisia and other French territories.

ards, Dave Nelson, Clarence Welsh and Carl Lockard, who were among the first at the scene after the body was discovered. Heasley was evidently in the act of polishing the car when overcame, as a polishing rag was found clutched in his hand. He had slithered the car on Tuesday, it was stated.

Mr. Heasley had evidently gone into the garage to work about the car shortly after 10 o'clock, as he was not seen after that time. The gasoline tank was entirely empty so that the motor must have been running for five or six hours. Miss Ostrosky had gone out around 2:15 p. m. and returned about 3:45 p. m. and was under the impression that she heard the motor running at that time. When Mr. Heasley did not make his appearance, they became concerned about his absence and went to the garage to investigate, discovering his lifeless body.

Jack Harzfeld, who lives in a trailer at the Heasley home on Harbor street, had also missed him and inquired about him during the day, it was stated, as he was rather punctual in his habits, and when he did not come home for dinner at the accustomed hour, it was felt something was wrong.

Mr. Heasley had been employed by various local undertakers during his lifetime, and at one time engaged in the undertaking business himself for a period of several years. He had also been engaged in the taxicab business here some years ago. Coroner Charles Pifer Byers, who investigated the circumstances, pronounced death as accidental.

Mr. Heasley was born in Rulaisk township on March 24, 1885, son of William B. and Harriet Ann Rutter Heasley.

Thirty-four years ago he married Evelyn Mitchell, who survives. He also leaves one daughter, Mrs. Robert Vaughan, of New Castle, and one grandchild, Billy Lee Vaughan. He was a member of the First Presbyterian church.

He entered the undertaking business with the Lee Lutton Co. when he was just 17 years old. He was with that concern for 11 years, managed the Dunn company for eight years, and then operated his own establishment until 1926. Since that time he had been employed by Darrell Burke as an assistant embalmer and by Miss Crawford as chauffeur.

The body is at the Burke funeral home, where friends will be received tonight from seven to nine o'clock. Services will be conducted there at three o'clock Friday afternoon, and interment will be made in Oak Park cemetery.

BRITISH STAND ON TOTALITARIAN POWERS STIFFENS

Schacht, it was learned, is now faced with the task of trying to remove the "bad impression" caused by this boycott.

The growing Anglo-German ill feeling coincided with parallel British and French admonitions to Italy to respect her promises in the Mediterranean.

Chamberlain flatly told the House of Commons that Italy's undertakings to respect the existing Mediterranean status "certainly applied to Tunisia," the French north African protectorate coveted by Italy.

"Any action," said Chamberlain, "contrary to Italy's agreement would be a matter of grave concern to the British government."

In Paris, French Foreign Minister Georges Bonnet warned Italy in even stronger terms. He told the foreign affairs committee of the chamber of deputies:

"I say without equivocation that France will never yield any part of her territory to Italy. Any attempt to take territory would only result in war."

Owing to the stronger stand taken by Britain and France, it was expected that Schacht's reception in London may prove somewhat cool.

Schacht is scheduled to discuss with George Rublee, American director of the inter-governmental committee on political refugees, the question of foreign balances for Jewish and other refugees leaving Germany.

The German financial expert also will confer with Montagu Norman, governor of the Bank of England, whose invitation he came to London, and Sir John Simon, chancellor of the exchequer, regarding Germany's trade campaigns and British trade intentions in southeastern Europe.

He also is expected to discuss the relation of the Reichsmark and the pound sterling and to seek information regarding possible manipulation of currencies in German trade spheres.

It is said that the oyster crop this year is the best in years. You may not know it, but it takes about four years from the time the seed is sown until an oyster crop is harvested. Like everything else, oysters have their enemies; the starfish and the drill, prey upon them relentlessly, but now the growers have found a way to knock out their foes with slaked lime.

By way of a new industry one of Pa. News's readers sends in a suggestion that a plant be built for the manufacture of dog food. There are some five thousand dogs in this county alone, according to the licenses issued at the county treasurer's office. Thousands of dollars are spent here for dog food. If there was a plant where it could be secured fresh, it ought to do a good business.

We generally think of injunctions as applying to industrial districts, but up in Venango county, a man has just secured an injunction against two other men to prevent them from trapping on his lands near Cambridge Springs. The owner of the land says he wants to do the trapping himself, which is a very good reason for asking an injunction.

Santa Claus sends Pa. News word that he will be here regardless of the weather. If he can't come with his reindeer and sleigh, he has arranged to have his sleigh mounted on a truck.

There is probably a much surprised woman auto driver in this city if she receives a tag for violation of the parking meter regulation yesterday. She drove her car into one of the stalls on the public square, got out and placed a nickel in the parking meter and went on her way. But she put the nickel in the wrong meter. She placed it in one to the right of her car, instead of the left.

One of the crying needs of New Castle's outlying districts is a system of sewers. This applies to Union, Neshannock, Shenango, Hickory and Taylor townships. In three of these Union, Neshannock and Shenango,

JAMESON-SHENANGO ALUMNAE HOLDS PARTY

Climaxing their past year's social season, the Jameson-Shenango Nurses Alumnae of Jameson Memorial hospital held their annual Yuletide party on Wednesday evening in the nurses home, which was largely attended.

A short alumnae business meeting was held and following, the membership invited their directress, of nurses, Miss Ethel Planson, and the student nurses to join them as their guests.

Activities started with a "bang" when "white elephant" gifts, some of an amusing nature, were auctioned off. Those sharing as auctioneers were Elizabeth Taylor, Mrs. Betty Blackford Levine and Mrs. Isabel Craig.

Lunch was a later pleasure, the group being ushered into the dining room where they were seated at colorfully decorated tables. During this period, Christmas carols were sung by the group, with Miss Margaret Grundy and Miss Nancy Cole as accompanists. Places marked for 70.

The committee responsible for the evening's success was composed of Elizabeth Taylor, chairman; Grace Parker, Mrs. Elmer Schiek, Mrs. Betty Blackford Levine, Mrs. Eleanor Reed and Mrs. Alice Brunsvick. On Monday, January 23, an election of officers will take place and new members will be received into the Alumnae organization at their regular meeting in the Solarium of Jameson Memorial hospital. The hour is 8 o'clock.

Dorcas Class Meeting
The Dorcas Class of the First Congregational church, will meet on Friday evening, at the home of Miss Melvina Davies, Electric street, for their annual Christmas party. An exchange of gifts will take place.

FIELD CLUB BRIDGE HELD ON WEDNESDAY

New Castle Field club women enjoyed another of their series of dessert-bridge parties in their club rooms on Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. L. W. Strayer presiding in the role of hostess.

In the card contests that followed the serving, Mrs. S. E. Patterson, Mrs. C. C. Headland and Mrs. John Perry captured the honor score awards.

A similar party will again be held at the club in two weeks, the hostess to be announced.

MRS. M. L. WELLER IS HONORED ON BIRTHDAY

Mrs. M. L. Weller enjoyed her ninety eighth birthday anniversary on Tuesday, December 12, at the home of her niece, Mrs. John Secher on North Jefferson street with a few friends and relatives present.

During the serving of a birthday dinner, a large cake centered the table on which there were ninety eight burning candles.

J. E. Weller, Mrs. Weller's son, of Chicago, was here for the day. Mrs. Weller is enjoying exceedingly good health.

Honored On Birthday

Mrs. Joseph Punio, Butler avenue, invited a group of friends to her home on Tuesday evening to help celebrate the 7th birthday anniversary of her daughter, Betty Jane. Games, music and dancing formed the pastimes. A lunch was served by the hostess, aided by Mrs. Jane Graziano.

Betty Jane was presented with an array of lovely and useful gifts.

MR. AND MRS. BAUMAN OBSERVE ANNIVERSARY

A memorable occasion of Wednesday evening was the 40th wedding anniversary celebration, which was planned in surprise fashion honoring Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Bauman, 306 Winter avenue, when their sons, Albert Bauman, Jr., of New Galilee, Earl and George Bauman, at home, shared as co-hosts at a special dinner in The Castleton hotel.

While the group was enjoying their dinner, daughters of the honored couple, Mrs. A. H. Hulbert of Pittsburgh, Mrs. W. J. Wilcox of Beaver Falls, Helen and Eleanor Bauman, at home, and a daughter-in-law, Mrs. A. W. Bauman, of New Galilee, with the aid of Otis Elder, transformed the residence on Winter avenue into a bower of beauty with flowers and other appointments in keeping with the season for a reception when they arrived from the hotel.

Upon returning home Mr. and Mrs. Bauman and their sons were greeted by an assemblage of relatives, friends and neighbors numbering upwards of a hundred and fifty. This proved a complete surprise to the guests of honor. From 8:30 until 11:30 the girls served a buffet lunch from a prettily decorated table. The yuletide theme predominated throughout.

Mr. Bauman is a contractor. He built the new "Old Main" at Westminster college in New Wilmington, among other buildings. Two years ago he was honored at the Central Christian church for having served 25 years as superintendent of the Sunday school. Both Mr. and Mrs. Bauman are quite active and take an interest in many outside organizations.

Forty years ago Rev. Ira H. Durfee of this city united A. W. Bauman, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Henry Bauman, and Sarah Shearer in marriage at the home of her mother on Terrace avenue. They are the parents of seven children, all of whom participated in their anniversary party last evening.

Making the day most complete, an array of very beautiful gifts was received by the honored couple as additional mementos of the happy occasion.

MARSING CLUB HAS YULETIDE GATHERING

Mrs. Stuart Cope of Williams St. was a pleasing hostess, Wednesday evening, when she entertained members of the Marsing club at their annual Christmas party.

Cards were played with prizes going to Mrs. E. P. Mitchell, Mrs. Howard Moncrief and Mrs. Ernest Anderson.

A lovely feature of the evening, was a miniature Christmas tree, surrounded by many lovely gifts, which were exchanged among the members.

At a late hour, a delicious lunch was served by the hostess, assisted by her daughter, Betty Jane. The table was attractively decorated. The guests were each presented with a novel hostess favor, made in the form of Santa Claus.

Plans were made to hold their next meeting, at the home of Mrs. Thomas, of Richelleu avenue.

Excels Club

With Mrs. W. K. Allen as the capable hostess, the Excels club had a jolly afternoon at her Chestnut street home on Wednesday.

Bingo playing interested everyone and the lucky prize winners were Mrs. Charles Riney and Mrs. Alice Claple. Delicious candy was served.

A Christmas party will take place at the home of Mrs. Edward Burdett, East Washington street, the complete arrangements to be announced later.

Wimodausis Yuletide Party And Election At Cathedral

Jingle Bells! Jingle Bells! were heard ringing through the corridors of the Scottish Rite Cathedral on Wednesday afternoon, and Santa Claus in the person of Andy Dodds, in his North Pole attire, added complete holiday atmosphere, when Wimodausis club women gathered for their annual Christmas party.

With Mrs. Howard E. Richards and Mrs. W. H. Hood presiding in the role of co-hostesses, the assemblage was ushered into the West dining room at 1 o'clock where festivities were launched with the serving of luncheon.

Adjourning to the East lodge room, a program was presented under the direction of Mrs. Bessie Pitzer, chairman. This provided a most enjoyable social period. A quartette composed of Mrs. Flossie Weller, Mrs. W. A. Dittmeyer, Mrs. Ruby Bright and Mrs. W. P. Felch contributed several delightful Christmas carols. They were joined at intervals by their appreciative audience on some of their numbers. Mrs. Anna Pyle was the accompanist.

A reading was given by Mrs. W. H. Shipley, entitled "Let's Keep Christmas," as the concluding feature.

The annual business meeting and election of officers resulted as follows: President, Mrs. G. D. Hildebrand; first vice, Mrs. Fred C. Wolford; second vice, Mrs. J. A. Purie; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Harry Hammond; financial secretary, Mrs. Lolla McBride; treasurer, Mrs. Raymond Rhodes. Three new directors were also elected for a period of three years, Mrs. John B. Haley, Sr., Mrs. W. A. Taylor and Mrs. Frank Woods.

The distributing of gifts, which were found beneath the huge lighted Christmas tree, was the closing part of the program. Old St. Nick was assisted by Mrs. Bessie Pitzer, and her aides, Mrs. Charles E. Allen, Mrs. Jack Dunlap and Mrs. Elsie Nesle.

Kiwanians, Wives Enjoy Christmas Party At Hotel

The annual Christmas ladies' night party of the Kiwanis club was held in the beautifully decorated ballroom of The Castleton last night. A crowd of 80 attended. The dining hall was brilliantly decorated.

After enjoying a delicious turkey dinner, the group sat back to listen to three of New Castle's talented vocalists, to hear a fitting Christmas message by Dr. C. J. Williamson, former pastor of Highland U. P. church and now of Pittsburgh, and to watch Santa Claus (Norman E. Clark) distribute presents to all the ladies and some of the men.

The singers who were accompanied at the piano by Garth Edmondson, First Baptist church organist and noted composer, included Delbert Fletcher, Andrew Dillmore and Mrs. Elsa Strayler, all pupils of Mrs. Garth Edmondson, who was present as a guest.

All of the singers were compelled to respond to encores. Dr. Williamson, now a member of the Pittsburgh-Xenia Seminary, United Presbyterian institution in Pittsburgh, was welcomed back as a former president of the local club and as one who for years was prominent in New Castle civic affairs. He lived up to his far-famed reputation

GOOD NEIGHBORS AT HULING HOME

Members of the Good Neighbors club met Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. E. C. Huling, Grandview avenue. Two members of the club, Mrs. Edward Coyne and Mrs. Albert Pilshaw, were honored with handkerchief showers in honor of their birthday anniversaries.

Main diversion of the hours was playing 500. High score prizes were awarded to Mrs. Fred Foster and Mrs. Harry Brown. An exchange of gifts was held.

Next meeting will be held in two weeks, at the home of Mrs. Floyd Jones, West Washington street extension, with Mrs. Fred Foster, as hostess.

T. O. F. F. Club

Miss June Wilson, 218 East Ne-shannock avenue, New Wilmington, was a pleasing hostess to members of the T. O. F. F. club Wednesday evening at her home.

Bridge and Chinese checkers formed the chief pastimes for the evening, prizes being awarded to Peggy Pearson, a special guest, and Eleanor Van Buren. At an appointed hour the guests were invited into the dining room where a lovely lunch was served.

The next meeting will be January 11 in the home of Eleanor Van Buren, Market street, New Wilmington.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Meyers, Ph. D.

STANKINGS CURE DELINQUENCY

THE Ohio Probation association is a non-profit organization that was created for the care and protection of children, both through a program of prevention of delinquency and/or the sympathetic, intelligent treatment of children with behavior problems. Hannah L. Prottman, of Columbus, Ohio, is executive secretary.

This fine organization has just begun a monthly publication, The Ohio Crusader. In this first number I have an article on "Recent Developments in Attacking Juvenile Delinquency in the Home." To quote: "In recent years we have been thinking of the home as the place where most can be done to attack the problems of juvenile delinquency—the whole problem of crime, indeed."

Better Parents

"It is encouraging to see how many thoughtful parents are trying to learn how to be better parents. Thousands of them are meeting in study groups, discussing the problems of the child in all his relationships. And they are reading articles and books on these problems. . . . Welfare organizations are turning their attention to the possibility of preventing child-behavior problems and many family difficulties through parent education. For example, The Cleveland Welfare Federation has for a number of years conducted a rather extensive parent education program under the Health and Parent Education association of that city (the name lately was changed to Family Health association). . . . Courses in home economics . . . school children are learning how to be better citizens in the family and community . . . nursery schools . . . colleges and universities offering courses in marriage, family relationships, and child development . . . clinics for child guidance and family counsel . . . progress among thoughtful parents in cultivating a sympathetic, understanding attitude toward the growing child."

Right Direction

"All these developments seem to be in the right direction. Yet, we need to ask ourselves if self-expression has been properly balanced by self-control. . . . Across the point and days of talk have been devoted to warning parents against restraint and insubordination of the child even in his early years. Millions of parents have been told they would be brutes if they laid their hands on a child, even a tot, to restrain him."

"I have long believed and written that if we are to check juvenile delinquency, parents, especially of the intelligentsia, will need to train their children in their early years in the unambiguous meaning of NO."

"I have long believed and written that if we are to check juvenile delinquency, parents, especially of the intelligentsia, will need to train their children in their early years in the unambiguous meaning of NO."

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

PERPETUAL MOTION

Henry Wallace, Secretary of Agriculture, in his book on Statesmanship and Religion, excuses the flightiness of the New Deal with a quotation from John Wesley in one of his sermons more than one hundred years ago, when he is said to have perceived our present dilemma in the following words:

"I fear whenever riches have increased, the essence of religion has decreased in the same proportion. Therefore, I do not see how it is possible, in the nature of things, for any revival of true religion to continue long. For religion must necessarily produce both industry and frugality, and these cannot but produce riches. But, as riches increase, so will pride, anger and love of the world in all its branches."

Wesley's idea, says Wallace, was to exhort the brethren to gain as much as possible and then glorify God by giving abundantly.

Wallace further justifies the New Deal in its process of leveling off riches in another paragraph of the same book:

"I am inclined to agree with Tawney and Weber that capitalism is a rather natural outgrowth of Protestantism; and I would go farther in saying that socialism, communism and fascism are in turn rather natural developments from capitalism."

These are views coming from a man born and reared in the strait-laced denomination of the United Presbyterian church. His father and his grandfather were staunch Republicans on the Iowa type, where they edited and published farm papers that made them rich and famous.

Henry himself is the breeder of an improved strain of yellow corn that made two rows of grain grow on the ear where one grew before. And now that his country and his ingenuity have accomplished these things, he heads out in a strange direction, exploding his early Christian training and feeling around in the dark for a magic button to push that will create something out of nothing.

The Hints and Dints man has been asked many times what he would like for a Christmas gift. We are ashamed to tell.

TODAY'S STORYETTE

Stopping in a small town, a traveling man said to a prospective customer: "It has been 30 years since I was here last. Many buildings gone up since then."

"No," replied the resident, "none that I know of."

"Any new railroads or street cars?"

"Planning any improvements?"

"No."

"Well," said the traveling man, "I've been all over this country and this is the first town I've seen that is what you might call finished."

"Do you mean by 'minute steak'?" asked the customer, "that it takes that long to cook or to eat it?"

Pap often is afraid to buy a pair of socks, a pair of suspenders or a collar button this time of the year for fear he will get one of them for Christmas and then will have an oversupply.

Burglars plan some of their best jobs in the quiet of the jailhouse.

And they plan on getting out some way also to do the jobs.

SHE'S PEEVED NOW

A damsel of the Fernhill beauty shoppe was quite flustered the other day when a male friend told her that she reminded him of the Statue of Liberty.

She's angry at him now, though, since she discovered that the statue's waist is more than 30 feet around.

Sometimes a hero is a fellow who has absolutely no idea of the chance he is taking until the danger is past.

In Pennsylvania all liquor bars must close at 12 o'clock at night on New Years and Christmas eve. Clubs can stay open until three in the morning. This ought to help getting club memberships. Some birds will think closing the bars that early is scandalous as they will only get about started to light up at that time of the night.

WIFE'S IDEA

A new housewife isn't so sure that her husband is as bright as she used to think he was.

It seems that a neighborhood youngster kicked a football through one of the windows and hubby went to get some new glass and show his skill as a glazier in installing it.

"Sorry they didn't have the right size," he said, when he came home empty-handed. "That is an 18 by 20 window and all the glass they had was 20 by 18."

"Hm," said the wife. "You should have brought it home. You could have put it in sideways."

Reader's Question Answered

Dear Miss Markel—When a man announces himself over the telephone, should he say, "This is Mr. Smith" or "This is John Smith?"

T. W. Answer—If he is talking with someone who calls him "John" naturally he would say, "This is John Smith." To business associates with whom he is not on familiar terms, he should call himself "Mr. Smith."

On a hotel register, he should write "John Smith" omitting the "Mr.," except when he registers with his wife, in which case the signature should be "Mr. and Mrs. John Smith" never "John Smith and wife," which would be the very ultimate of bad taste.

Sailor be ware, sailor take care, was originally intended as advice for those on shore leave.

Most men remember better when they have the oil changed than they do their wedding anniversaries.

A wheeling woman was fined $20 for beating her husband and because she could not pay the fine was sent to jail. Oooh! There are too many vicious females beating up their poor defenseless husbands. Many men are too much of a gentleman to fight back when clouted by their wives.

Just as soon as a traveler kisses the barley stone he wants to start for Paris.

A lot of jailbirds like a pardon as a Christmas gift best of all. They are even willing to miss the big dinners during the holidays in jail.

Gambling is only a sin when you hold the wrong number.

The reason we are still calling your attention to paying for the Christmas Seals is because you haven't sent in your money for them yet. Are you going to flunk on this important matter?

A new dance called the "Gayway Gallop" will be sprung at the San Francisco world's fair. It is not stated whether clothes will be worn when it is danced or not. Every world's fair has a new dance. Good Taste

Rev. D. B. Patent Office

Regardless of "this greater freedom" there is still predominant in the north-while male that insistence that caused Caesar to demand: "My wife must be above suspicion." If you doubt this, take a poll and discover how many decent men are captured by girls who drink habitually and act unbecomingly.

Our Attitude Towards Germany
United States Position Not Clear
Hitler Considers Recall A Snub

By CHARLES F. STEWART
(Central Press Columnist)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 15.—Just why Uncle Sam should semi-break diplomatic relations with Germany while continuing them with Italy is not very clear. To be sure, United States Ambassador William Phillips has been home from Rome even as Ambassador Hugh Wilson is home from Berlin. However, it's evident now that Ambassador Phillips has been here merely on a little visit, whereas it's officially agreed at the State Department that Ambassador Wilson is here to stay indefinitely. This doesn't exactly amount to his recall, but it bears a close resemblance to it. Moreover, the Nazis' summons of their ambassador, Hans Dieckhoff, back to Germany from Washington makes it pretty plain that Fuehrer Hitler considers that America has snubbed him.

Incidentally, President Roosevelt was "too busy" to bid Dieckhoff good-bye and Secretary of State Cordell Hull's farewell to him was extremely perfunctory. Dieckhoff has been personally popular here but not the regime he has represented, apparently.

It is understandable that Uncle Samuel should be disgusted with Nazism's recent behavior. Hitler's treatment of the Jews, and, to a degree, of Catholics and Protestants too, may not be any of our national business. Still, there's justification for the view that we don't like to be on speaking terms with such an outfit.

WHAT ABOUT FASCISTS? Yet, if we can't stand the Nazis as diplomatic acquaintances, how can we stand the Italian Fascists? They're on an anti-Jewish rampage also. To date it isn't quite as violently unloved as the Nazis' but it's getting worse. In a way it's more shocking than the German program. The Hitlerites (I don't say the decent Germans generally) seemingly have a kind of a crazy honest anti-Jewish complex. The Fascist drive looks like a cheap imitation of it—insincere, but a Mussolini maneuver to win Hitler favor.

I can think of a reason or two why Naziism is more offensive than Fascism to the United States.

For one thing, the Hitlerites are more industrious spies than the Italians in this country. I think the

What Noted People Say

(International News Service)

NEW YORK—Magistrate Nicholas Pinto tells three homeless men who decline his offer to send them to jail until after Christmas: "Your only crime is not having sense enough to have your Christmas dinner at the expense of the city."

LIMA—U. S. Secretary of State Cordell Hull says his impression after conversing with representatives of other nations at the Pan-American conference is: "That there exists between us a measure of moral and spiritual unity far greater than ever before."

HOLLYWOOD—Jack Doyle, the Irish Thrush, announcing his engagement to Movita, Mexican actress:

"This time I have found the woman I have been waiting for. Movita is marvelous."

CHICAGO—Sir Herbert Ames, former treasurer of the League of Nations, discusses the Munich pact: "The terms were outrageous but the choice rested between two alternatives, both bad. Mr. Chamberlain accepted the lesser evil of the two."

LONDON—Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain:

"History teaches us that no form of government ever remains the same. The change may be slow, it may come by degrees, or it may come suddenly like an explosion."

CONSIDERING these things, it is easy to understand why, from the President's standpoint, it is vital to keep doubt alive on this subject. And that is what is being done. Some of his friends who contribute to it are entirely conscious of the phony nature of the "mystery"; others, failing to grasp political realities, are wholly sincere in their advocacy of a third nomination. Even those who are convinced as Mr. Tommy Corcoran, in one of his hours of ease the other night said, that "we'll all go out in 1940," have a lurking hope that a miracle may keep them in. In their cooler moments, however, they know better and are fully aware that the third-term illusion is necessary to keep from fading out before the curtain falls. A lot of people are fooled; but a good many are not. The best evidence of the hollow nature of the game is the fact that those who would most rejoice at a real third-term movement are the Republicans. They would regard it as a gift from the gods.

NOTWITHSTANDING, the third-term talk continues and the explanation is obvious. As a matter of fact, it was naively pointed out the other day by one of the inspired young journalists who reflects the thoughts and feelings of the "palace politicians" and is, in fact, quite close to the throne itself. Third-term talk, he states, for the next eighteen months is part of what the President's advisers regard as their essential strategy. Unless the uncertainty can be sustained, the Roosevelt influence over Congress, already impaired by the election and the purge failures, would be powerless to dominate the convention. With the patronage nearly all distributed, once it were certain that he was leaving at the end of his term, all fear of the President would evaporate. There would be no reason for trucking to him or following him. On the contrary, the bulk of the sycophantic politicians who now call him Boss would concentrate upon finding the next best bet to call Boss.

ABOUT METHUSELAH Methuselah at ninety was a healthy roguish lad

And no trace of indigestion up to then he'd ever had.

They say he'd reached two hundred years the doctors thought if he gave up eating midnight lunches somewhat better he might be.

I've been looking up his record and I've searched the books in vain.

For the time the doctors told him that his teeth were causing pain.

But his years were several hundred years they said: "Beyond a doubt."

"Your molars are infected and you ought to have them out!"

He was crowding seven-fifty when the family M. D. suggested that a check up of his health would help him.

And it startled the old fellow when he heard them say: "Oh-oh! It is just as we expected your metabolism's low!"

I suppose they must have noticed when his centuries were eight That Methuselah, the patriarch, was somewhat overweight.

And when he reached nine hundred, just to keep him in the "pink" That daily quart of buttermilk they ordered him to drink.

The Third-Term Game

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15.

THE RECENT outbreak of "third-term" talk, via the Messrs. Ickes, Guffey and Smathers, repeated at intervals by other Administration stooges from now until the 1940 national convention. Contributions to it will be made by the professional labor leaders and, in their underdog way, by the Communist individuals who run the Workers Alliance, that organization of relief workers so cordially approved by Mr. Harry Hopkins and his ebullient aide, Mr. Aubrey Williams.

BY A carefully preserved noncommittal attitude, Mr. Roosevelt will help create the impression that "circumstances may compel him to run." Jobholder activity to ballyhoo the idea will be stimulated; from time to time polls will show "sentiment" and the newspapers, sometimes, incredibly glib in these matters, will publish and republish the stuff as news, no matter how transparent its synthetic quality. The truth is that it is unadulterated bunk. Mr. Roosevelt is not going to run. Mr. Roosevelt knows he is not going to run and so does every clear-headed politician, in or out of the Administration. This does not mean that, like most of his predecessors, Mr. Roosevelt would not like to stay in the White House indefinitely—because he would. That is natural enough and there have been few Presidents who were not afflicted with nostalgia after leaving.

WHAT IT does mean is that it just can't be done. In Mr. Roosevelt's case, the reasons are particularly clear. To the usual traditional ones, which have been heavy enough to crush third-term aspirations in several Presidents fully as popular as this one, there must be added the potent and practical political fact of a party operation which clearly precludes all thought of "drafting." It is of such character and size as to make the only method by which he could secure another nomination, one in which he, actively conniving, would have to use the full weight of the Federal machinery to put himself over in the convention. Even should he be named in this way, which is uncertain, election would be out of the question—a wide party split insured. The plain realities of the Democratic situation leave no room for argument about that.

NOTWITHSTANDING, the third-term talk continues and the explanation is obvious. As a matter of fact, it was naively pointed out the other day by one of the inspired young journalists who reflects the thoughts and feelings of the "palace politicians" and is, in fact, quite close to the throne itself. Third-term talk, he states, for the next eighteen months is part of what the President's advisers regard as their essential strategy. Seek To Ease Up Tax Burden

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Dec. 15.—A proposal that legislation be enacted to relieve all new home building up to $5,000 of building taxes for five years received the attention of Pittsburgh's city councilmen today.

Councilman George E. Evans an-sponsor legislation to legalize the Mayor Scully had insisted the ad-

Pardon Board Plainly Irked At Newspapers

BRUNOS ASK FOR COMMUTATIONS

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Dec. 15.—Plainly irked at newspaper criticism of its action in paroling a long-term Philadelphia convict, the state board of pardoners plunged into consideration of appeals mainly from the eastern part of the state today.

Outstanding on the day's hearings was expected to be the commutation appeals of Alfred and James Bruno, sons of "Big" Joe Bruno, who were convicted of second degree murder in the Kelyres "election eve massacre" of 1934.

The board termed press dispatches claiming secrecy surrounding the paroling of William "Blacky" Zup-kosky, Philadelphia sentenced to serve 70-140 years for robbery, as "a new low in journalism" and accused the newspapers of "distortion of the facts". Zupkosky was convicted in 1929.

Executive Session
Upon completion of the cases remaining to be heard today, the board was expected to go into executive session this afternoon.

Highlighting the activities yesterday, when 75 Philadelphia appeals were heard, were:

1.—The board emphatically struck back at the press for criticism of its action in the Zupkosky case.
2.—Harold Williams, a lifer convicted with his sister in the sensational Philadelphia prophet murder, asked the board for his freedom.

3.—Seeking a parole, Frank Joseph Calderbank, leader of a gang which robbed the Olney Bank & Trust company, Philadelphia, of $35,000, pleaded for clemency.

4.—Walter Maloney, another lifer, described as the "finger-man" in a $34,000 holdup culminating in the slaying of a messenger, asked for a parole.

formers' effectiveness is vastly exaggerated. Nevertheless it's offensive. To say the least, Italy has been more circumspect.

Another thing toward the southern end of our hemisphere German trade has been in formidable. I don't contend that Germans are un-entitled to do the best they can commercially in Latin America.
They've done it though. Italians are more numerous than Germans in South America. Maybe the Fascist political philosophy predominates over Nazi-ism there (if there's any difference). But Germans are the better businessmen. In that respect Italy doesn't need to worry us; Germany does.

THERE'S THE DEBT, TOO

And then, some debt considerations are involved. Germany owes us some money. Austria owed us a $50,000,000 trifle, when Germany grabbed it, and we think Germany ought to assume the obligation.
Germany thinks not. That might be arguable, only the Germans are taking responsibility for other Austrian debts; not ours. Discrimination? We think so.

Parentetically:
None of these overseas debts will be paid anyway (except honorable Finland's) but we like to have them recognized.

So I still don't see why we break relations with Germany especially.
Italy, it's true, is starting a row with France—but is even that our funeral?

A friend of mine just came in—a friend connected with one of the government departments.

"We recently," he said, "took in a new helper—a young woman with a German name, obviously a Jew.
She's had been pretty outspoken against Nazi-ism."

"She's had a tip—don't talk too much, or your rating will suffer.
Perhaps you won't be advanced, or perhaps you'll be dropped out."
My friend's a South Carolinian, a Baptist. "Don't use my name," he

Find Out What Makes You Constipated!

You know that constipation often gives you that doped, sunken, baggied down feeling. Why not get at the cause and prevent it?

If you eat what millions do—things like bread, meat and potatoes—the chances are all that's the matter with you is you don't get enough "bulk." And "bulk" doesn't mean what you may think.
It's a kind of food that isn't entirely digested, but leaves a soft bulky mass in the intestines that aids elimination.

If this is your trouble, what you need is crisp crunchy Kellogg's All-Bran for breakfast. It contains both "bulk" and Nature's great intestinal tonic, vitamin B.
And it's not a drug, not a medicine!
Eat All-Bran every day, drink plenty of water, and see if the old rout doesn't look a lot brighter!
All-Bran is made by Kellogg's in Battle Creek. Sold by every grocer.

Father Against Operation For His Daughter

Decides Against Surgeon's Plan To Amputate Girl's Leg At Hip

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Dec. 15.—A perplexed father gambled with the life of his eight-year-old daughter today rather than submit her to an operation she had only one chance in ten of surviving.

Using common sense rather than medical advice as the basis for his decision, William Lewis, a city park attendant, decided against having the right leg of his daughter, Dorothy, amputated at the hip. Doctors had advised him that failure to operate would mean that Dorothy is virtually certain to die within a year.

The leg is afflicted with a tumor that gradually is spreading. Amputation, which Dorothy had only one chance in ten of surviving, probably would have checked this spread. But little Dorothy, recently showered with gifts when her plight became known, would have been a cripple for life.

Faced with the life or death decision, the father of several children whose mother died only five months ago, ruled:

"Her leg will not be amputated—not under any condition. I want it distinctly understood that my reasons are not emotional or sentimental but plain common sense. They are based on the medical profession's own word that an amputation couldn't be proved successful until five years have passed. Against that I have arrayed the overwhelming evidence that there are good chances of curing my child without running the terrible risk of her death in an operation."

Are dictators here to stay? You find the answer in the wisest of books: "Time and chance happeneth to them all."

IDENTIFYING TEETH?
(International News Service)
PARIS.—One result of the horrible fire at Marseille is a move on the part of French officials to have each individual carry an identification number on a gold crown on one tooth. Because only seven bodies were identifiable out of the seventy-odd dead in the Marseille fire, both the police and the French Dental association are urging people to have a tooth fitted with an "identification crown."

Plan For Budget For City Schools

Committee Is Named At Meeting Of Board On Wednesday Night

At the meeting of the New Castle school board Wednesday night, December 14, the budget committee was appointed for the coming year. The members of the committee include Directors Roy W. Hazen, Griff Thomas and Clyde M. Whittaker.

The budget will not be formally adopted for the school year of 1939-40 until next April but preliminary work upon it must be started about the first of the year.

The board set January 12 as the night of the annual dinner-meeting with the athletic council to be held in the senior high school.

Authority was granted to Wolf & Company, accountants of Philadelphia, to make an investigation of the four-mill tax paid by the school board on bonds outstanding. Under terms of the agreement the company gets no compensation if no refunds are found to be necessary. If they are, the company gets 50 per cent of what is returned to the board. Under the arrangement there is no possibility of it costing the board any money save 50 per cent of money they had no knowledge might be due.

Upon all bonds held by residents of Pennsylvania, the board must pay a four-mill tax. Upon bonds held by residents of other states or by financial institutions of the state no tax is due.

GIRL SCOUTS

HOLOCHE TROOP 12
Girl Scouts of Troop 12 held their meeting in Thaddeus Stevens school Wednesday afternoon. They opened their meeting with the Virginia Reel and Christmas carols.

The girls decided to have a Christmas party on Friday, December 23, with Marjorie Logan as hostess. Menu, decoration and program committees were named. They will go Christmas caroling also Friday night.

The meeting closed with taps. Scribe, Colleen Borkoff.

AT CROTON SCHOOL
The meeting of the Croton school Girl Scouts took place on Tuesday evening at 4 o'clock at the school. Christmas carols were sung by the group, under the direction of Miss Dorothy Patch.

The meaning of Christmas was discussed and folk dancing. A Girl Scout law game was played, with Miss Leona Sankey in charge.

The scouts were divided into two

DELEGATIONS AT LIMA CONFERENCE FRAME AGREEMENT

today that when the new declaration is promulgated it will be conceived more or less in the following terms:

"The American republics reaffirm their readiness to cooperate for the re-establishment of the principles on which American solidarity and conscience are based.

"In the event that the peace of the American republics is threatened by a non-American source, the American republics proclaim their decision to put the principle of solidarity into operation by means of consultations and to coordinate their activities for the maintenance of the territory and the constitutions which are threatened."

The conference has not yet had a plenary session, and it was believed today that this type of session would be delayed until there is unanimity on the declaration, considered to be the most important element on the conference agenda.

Economic Cooperation
Progress was also made today on the American project for removing obstacles to economic cooperation among the American nations, which was brought before the delegations privately by Adolf A. Berle, Jr., of the American delegation.

It was learned unofficially today that the project will be embodied in a resolution taking the form of a simple declaration similar to economic policy statements adopted at the previous conferences at Montevideo and Buenos Aires.

The fears of some of the South American nations that really drastic steps to remove trade barriers might impair their national sovereignties and interfere with their trade relations with European nations played a major role in shaping the economic declaration along lines more or less as follows:

"First, the governments of the American republics will take the fastest possible steps to adopt reasonable customs tariffs which will facilitate inter-American trade on the basis of the most-favored nation clause.

"Second, they will take immediate steps to reduce formalities of an administrative and technical nature in regard to the importation of merchandise.

"Third, they will adopt a vigorous policy of negotiating commercial treaties which incorporate the principle of no discrimination.

"Fourth, all the parties to the declaration will undertake by every means to stimulate the principles underlying the declaration."

George Burns Will Not Give Comment On Plea Of Guilt

Famous Radio Comedian
Termed "Victim Of Circumstances" By His Attorney

(International News Service)
HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 15.—Back home from New York, George Burns, "straight man" in the celebrated radio team of Burns and Allen, was unwilling to talk Wednesday about his surprise plea of guilty to indictments in the government's New York smuggling probe.

"I have nothing to say. You will have to see my lawyer," the comedian declared.

His attorney, Lloyd Wright, who arrived a few hours after Burns did, said only that Burns was a "victim of circumstances."

Burns arrived here Tuesday by airplane, and looked highly nervous as he dashed through a queue of newspaper men waiting to interview him.

Love-Sick Youth Hurls Acid And Causes Fatality

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Dec. 15.—A love-sick youth of 24, whose anger over being refused information concerning whereabouts of his one-time sweetheart caused him to hurl acid into the face of an unemployed father of four children, faced arraignment on a homicide charge today.

Harold Johnson, 36, died shortly after the acid was tossed into his face by Harry Hinz. Mrs. Johnson, the intended victim who would not tell Hinz where his former sweetheart now lives, and two of her children were burned by the acid.

"I thought they (Johnsons) were the ones who had influenced her to never see me again and I wanted revenge," Hinz allegedly told police.

Oak Street School Teacher Retires

No Bids Received At Board Meeting Last Night For Martin Gantz Site

One resignation and two sabbatical leaves were approved Wednesday night by the New Castle school board. Miss Lillian Sedwick, a teacher in Oak Street school, resigned due to retirement.

Sabbatical leaves for the second semester were granted to Dorothy Stadelhofer, of the Washington Junior high school, for purposes of study, and to Anne Shifman, of Franklin Junior high, for health reasons.

The report of the attendance officer showed 156 cases of absence reported, 188 investigations and six notices served upon parents.

Fifteen cases of scarlet fever were reported to the board by the medical inspector, 942 routine inspections were made, and the school nurses reported 153 visits to schools.

No bids were received for the sale of the Martin Gantz property at the corner of North Jefferson and Grant streets. Previously, a verbal offer of $40,000 had been made for the property and the board decided to advertise it for sale in an effort to get as good a price as possible.

The bold thief or thieves stole the birds from the outdoor roosts within 150 feet from the Zuschlag residence. It is believed that the turkeys were taken some time between 5 and 7 a. m., although there was no disturbance raised and no definite clues have been uncovered.

Police Have Many Duties To Perform

Only the high lights of a policeman's life become known to the public and that is when he arrests some criminal. However, there are other tasks which he performs and of which the public some times does not realize.

He must keep an eye open for bad highways and sidewalks; dangerous signs on buildings; electric lights which are out of condition;
imperative traffic signals; damaged traffic signs; unlocked doors to business houses at night.

Guard houses when occupants are on vacation; watch for traffic violations; shoot hydrophobia-affected animals; return lost children; know every person living in the section he patrols; report at least once every hour to headquarters.

Serve legal documents prepared in the city solicitor's office. These include paying liens and notices to property-owners to fix sidewalks; order residents to keep sidewalks in passable condition and help guard money, silk, liquor and cigarette shipments.

Yes, police have many duties to perform. Their job is not so exciting as one believes—until some person goes "hay-wire" commits a desperate crime and then the officer pits his wits and life against the desperado.

Game Commission Asks Citizens To Keep Game Alive

Residents Of Community Are Asked To Provide Food And Shelter During Winter

Now that the 1938 game season has come to a close, and the hunters of the commonwealth have reaped their harvest, they are being asked by the game commission to provide food and cover for the seed stock which remains, particularly during bad weather, when lowered vitality and cold nights take heavy toll.

Sportsmen, Boy Scouts, school children, rural mail carriers, farmers, nature lovers and all who are interested in wildlife, are asked by the game commission to place food in likely spots, preferably where birds and animals may be protected from predators while they are feeding.

Many New Castle folks do this without asking, particularly folks who live on the outskirts of the city, where song and insectivorous birds gather. They are repaid by the cheery songs of the birds, some of which remain all winter long in these localities.

PAY FOR WIVES

(International News Service)
ROME.—In war or peace, an Italian wife with one child will receive daily 5½ lire, roughly 28 cents, from the government while her husband is carrying a gun, under a law recently passed. For each additional child she gets eight cents.

DAILY DOZEN

(From the Medical Society of the State of Pennsylvania)

The status of the insane has changed with the centuries.

Once they were revered and venerated as prophets.

Later they were treated as demons and beaten.

Not so long ago they were treated as criminals.

They were imprisoned, whipped and brutalized.

Philip Pinel was the first man to treat insanity as a disease.

He was a French physician, born in 1745.

He believed the insane needed sympathy and care.

What a change from the old order!

Pinel's idea is universally recognized today.

With proper treatment, the insane now have hope of recovery.

Pinel preached a sane approach to insanity.

Federal Men Take Alleged Forger

MERCER, Dec. 15.—Federal officers from Pittsburgh today removed Anthony Sakolski, 25, of New Castle from the county jail on a charge of forging a WPA check.
Sakolski had been serving a 30-day sentence on a drunk and disorderly charge preferred by Sharon police officers.

AROUND CITY HALL

Christmas season shoppers are helping the parking meter fund according to C. C. McKibben, city treasurer, who reports that the last collection for a 10 days period which was made Monday showed parking fee deposits amounting to $755.40.
This was an increase of $113.00 over the previous ten days period collections. However, the last collection was not the greatest amount the city has received for a 10 days parking period. Some collections during summer totaled almost $900.
For a time the collection averaged $750.00.

"The parking meters are an aid to the auto-going public," said Traffic Commissioner William Tyrrell today.
"A shopper now can always find a place to park in the business district. In pre-meter days an autist had a difficult task finding a place and when he did, usually found his car blocked in by other machines.
In some cases such like this, the bumpers or fenders on cars were damaged when one of the three automats tried to "wiggle out" of the parking space. Under the present system there is plenty of space in front and in the rear of an auto.
Twenty feet is allotted for parking
each car.

Forty-two persons in the city of New Castle carry fire-arms for their or their firm's protection, according to a statement made today by Police Chief Ralph A. Criswell. The chief issues permits only to those he knows personally and then only after he is of the opinion that the facts warrant the applicant carrying a revolver. He does not charge for the permit, incidentally it might be also said there are only two places licensed to sell revolvers. The fee charged by the police department is $10.00.

When the appropriations for 1939 were compiled no provision was made for the alleviation of the Big Run flood situation and if such is desired, it is likely the city may be required to issue bonds to pay the city's share. The city has set aside $25,000 for city-WPA projects next year which will take care of the city's costs of present projects in operation and proposed street paving.

There is on file in the office of the city clerk a report made some time ago by Glenn R. Throp, city engineer, in which he states there are 45 billboards here which do not conform to the building code.

Proposed sanitary sewer in First street would cost $53,615.00, of which the city's share would be $14,121.10, according to a schedule submitted to council by City Engineer Glenn R. Throp. The new materials the city will need would cost in equipment rentals $80.37, and for materials $851.73. The city now has material which can be used, worth $480.00. The balance, $4,219.40, will be provided by the federal government if the proposal now in committee is approved by the WPA.

Council has received a report from City Engineer Glenn R.
Throp showing that a proposed improvement to the Cascade Park comfort station will cost the City $1,966.02 and the federal government $3,900. The report, in the form of a proposal to the WPA for approval, is in council committee.

Contagion here did not average three cases a day during the present year, the approximate list having been reported to the city health department having been 882.

Suggests Projects For Tax-Labor Plan

No Action As Yet Taken On Proposals Of Councilman
Dunlap By Council

Some time ago Councilman William H. Dunlap suggested some projects which he said could be performed on the tax labor plan; in other words, the worker to receive part of his pay in cash and the balance to apply on delinquent taxes.
The matter was sent to council committee where it yet reposes.

The suggested projects were:
Cleaning of Mill St. storm sewer.
Dunlap claims it has been congested for several years.

Cleaning of several thousand reclaimed bricks.
New bridge in Lorain Street.
Resurfacing of Walnut and Division Streets and Diamond Way.
Walnut Street is to be resurfaced when bus transplants street car service, it was reported recently.
Construction of a sewer in Jackson Avenue to alleviate a flood condition.

Tentative Budget Posted At City Hall

Finance Director James L. Fink today stated that a copy of the 1939 tentative budget was being prepared for scrutiny in city hall today. As soon as the budget is prepared it will be on display in the office of the city clerk, city hall. Already several citizens have visited the office to peruse the list of appropriations. The budget, now a proposed ordinance, is in committee of the whole.

Twenty Nine Pass Police Force Tests

Twenty nine of 30 applicants for who is the examining physician for the commission.

Funeral services will be held today for the funeral of Nelson Oliver Kelso, 55, will be conducted Friday at 2 p. m. from the home of his brother, Samuel W. Kelso, Coalspring township, Mercer county, where he died. Rev. H. H. Bish of the Methodist Episcopal church will be in charge. Interment will be in Mercer county.

Mr. Kelso was a son of George and Sarah Walker Kelso and was born in Coalspring township on August 25, 1882. A jeweler by occupation, he had lived in California for many years, coming to Pennsylvania about six years ago.

For a time he worked at his trade in Youngstown, O., until his health failed and he was compelled to give up his work.

His wife, Marie Kelso, preceded him in death in 1933. He was a member of Carnation lodge No. 900, F. & A. M. of Chicago, Ill.

He is survived by a sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Shannon, Mercer, and five brothers, Robert, Audley, Kelso and Samuel W. Kelso, of Mercer; Joseph H. Kelso, of Greenville; George F. Kelso, of New Castle and William D. Kelso, of Youngstown.

A statesman plans for the future; a politician sells out posterity to buy peace and popularity while he is in office.

CHRISTMAS WRAPPED CIGARS, TOBACCO AND CIGARETTES

Dr. Dafoe's Column On The Quintuplets And The Care Of Your Children

Copyright, 1938, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

HOW THE QUINTS ARE PUNISHED

Recently I heard "habit" defined as "a way of thinking or doing something that is hard to change because we have done the same thing in the same way so many times before."

That just about hits the nail on the head so far as what I am trying to impress on you mothers is concerned. Take, for instance, you adults who have learned your own particular job well. Now try and adapt yourself to some other job and see how difficult it is. You will find that it hurts you mentally and physically to break the old habits and learn new ones. Remember that good or bad habits aren't inherited; they are formed in us from day to day.

You must always set an example to your child and try never to be anything less than he thinks you should be.

For instance, in the Quint nursery the nurses eat at the same table as the children do. They all eat the same things, too, although the adults do get somewhat larger helpings. The point is that the children see that the food put before them is what the nurses eat, and that proves to them that it is the proper food to eat. If the nurses want something extra that the Quints mustn't have, they have to wait until the children are away and can't see.

I don't have to tell any parent how imitative the child is. They like to do what others do, and they aren't old enough to know what is right and what is wrong. Remember, example is much better than preaching when it comes to training children. That is why we try to do only the correct things before the Quints each day. When they do right, we praise them; we encourage them to do it again and again until it is a habit.

We quietly take every chance to tell the babies what we want them to do. Don't be a pest and overdo it, for that is worse than not doing it.

at all. But do it quietly and unobtrusively. It has much more effect that way.

The Quints are never roughly treated or whipped. We reason with them. But if all our arguments are useless, the child is put in the detention room. This is a quiet, well-lighted room where they are entirely alone with themselves. This happens very rarely with our five, and it always has results. Being by itself is usually enough for a child, particularly if it realizes that it has hurt its mother or father with disobedience.

All children must have some sort of punishment one time or another, and that is the way we punish the Quints, for they are as far from being "little angels" as your child is. In fact, if we notice them being too angelic, we investigate to see what mischief is afoot.

Parents shouldn't worry too much if a child doesn't conform with height-weight-age tables. Children are different types just as adults are. A lot depends on race and on the weight of the parents. But if your child is fed regularly, if he eats the nourishing food he should, and still doesn't gain weight, check up to see that he isn't overtired at mealtime, or that he is getting all the sleep he should. Call in your doctor for he may find some infection like bad tonsils or teeth that is holding him back. Normal, healthy children gain weight steadily as long as they eat the things they should.

Kettle Money Going To Poor For Christmas

Salvation Army Wants To Provide Christmas Cheer For Needy Folks

At this season of the year it is the custom of the Salvation Army to ask the public to assist them in providing Christmas cheer for the less fortunate neighbors. The success of this activity has been made possible by the co-operation of the public and local merchants.

With the approach of the Christmas season the local Salvation Army corps is again a link in the chain of corps of the Army spreading cheer throughout 98 countries and colonies of the world in which it operates. The Salvation Army pioneered the organized distribution of Christmas cheer in the United States over fifty years ago. It is with this background of joy and experience The Army has been among the leaders in the community disbursing Christmas cheer to those less fortunate.

Inasmuch as all contributions received are used solely for relief efforts to make a joyous Christmas for worthy applicants, the Salvation Army trusts that the heart will dictate and circumstances will permit a generous response to their appeal for funds. At various times between now and Christmas, Salvation Army lassies will be stationed on the streets with their well known "kettles" to receive your contribution.

Anyone wishing to contact a Salvation Army official may do so at the local Salvation Army Hall, 133 Water street, or by phoning 1882.

TOY-MAKING CONTINUES

The City Rescue Mission is busy repairing toys for a group of 150 boys at Christmas time. Those who have toys that can be used for this purpose are asked to call 430 or drop a postal to the mission, 17 South Mercer street. Contributions of money will be greatly appreciated.

The Human Side Of The News

(By EDWIN C. HILL)

Copyright 1938 King Features Syndicate, Inc.

A book which blossoms with sin and many a foul and midnight murder, and issued from the presses of Lippincott, is the work of an old friend of mine. It is called "Styles in Crime." The author is Charles E. Still, who, for forty-five years has made a close study of murder, banditry, crooked politics and the various forms of evil and rascality which afflict great cities.

As a newspaper reporter and editor for more than forty decades, Mr. Still arrived at the conclusion that crime has certain definite patterns—styles, if you like—and in a most engrossing and absorbing story of sin and skulduggery he proves his point, I think.

If you have a taste for murder, as most people seem to have, judging from the torrent of murder mysteries which pour over the literary dam, and if you would like to know the wiles and tricks of forgers, pickpockets, stock swindlers, the policy racket and kidnappers; if you would like to travel back through the years with Mr. Still and visit McGurk's Suicide Hall on the Bowery, and the naughty Haymarket Dance Hall, attend an execution at Sing Sing, and meet Steve Brodie, Chinatown's Certe and New York's wickedest man—why then, Mr. Still is your man and "Styles in Crime" is your book. It will rob you of sleep.

Familiar with many of Mr. Still's

most noted murder cases, his account of the murder of Joseph B. Elwell, a famous bridge whist expert of twenty years ago, is the most extraordinary case of unsolved crime. Elwell came to his death by a pistol wound in the center of his forehead as he sat in his own home, 244 West Seventieth Street, in New York, early in the morning of June 11, 1920.

As a highly-paid bridge expert, with society people as his patrons, Elwell enjoyed a large income. He moved in exclusive circles and was surrounded by men and women who loved to gamble. He was a high roller in gambling—at baccarat and chem de fer, and on one occasion won $55,000 in one sitting from a railroad magnate. He was a bold player and a lucky one. He lived at a fast pace with homes at Palm Beach, Saratoga Springs and Long Beach as well as in Manhattan. He was fastidious in his tastes. His women friends were numerous—some of them other men's wives or sweethearts, others bound by no attachment except this incident to a gay life.

On the last night of his spectacular life, Elwell attended a gay dinner party at the Ritz-Carlton Hotel. Present were a number of persons whose names figured prominently in the news of the day. The party broke up at two o'clock in the morning.

Elwell was home at 2:30 because a woman called him and talked to him at that time. The telephone records show that at 4:39 A. M. he called a number at Far Rockaway, and that at 6:09 he called a number in Garden City, Long Island. At 6:15 A. M. the milkman left a quart of milk in the vestibule, and at 7:10 the postman rang twice and left a letter. At 8:10 Elwell's housekeeper let herself in, as usual. She saw her employer seated in a chair in front of the fireplace in the living room to the right of the hall. On the floor were letters delivered an hour before by the postman. A glance told the housekeeper that Elwell was through with this world. There was a blue bullet hole between his eyes.

Then and there began one of the most vigorous investigations the New York Police Department ever set in motion. Every phase and incident of Elwell's career was studied. Every guest at the dinner was questioned over and over again. Every individual was able to account for his or her movements in the significant hours and was released from suspicion.

The detectives pounced on every possible clue. Heavy iron gratings barred the windows on the first floor. The only unlocked windows in the house were in Elwell's own room on the third floor. Nobody could have entered or left by those lofty windows. The bed had not been slept in. He was in his pajamas. He had discarded his toupee and false teeth evidently on the point of retiring. A search of the house turned up a wealth of material, which, though it failed to suggest a telling clue, offered much that might suggest a motive.

An address book gave names, addresses and telephone numbers of scores of women. Cancelled checks fitted many of these names. There was evidence that the bridge expert had been in the bootlegging racket—a hint that murder may have been done by jealous husband or lover or discarded sweetheart.

The door was locked when the housekeeper arrived in the morning and found Elwell dead. How did the murderer get in? Was the slayer concealed in the house when Elwell arrived home from the theatre party? Did Elwell himself admit his slayer? Was the killer a man or a woman?

After eighteen years the mystery is as deep as ever.

Mr. Shakespeare and Daniel Webster to the contrary—murder does not always wait out.

We "deal with a nation" in the same sense that Ohio plays Michigan. The multitudes that groan or cheer have nothing to do with calling the signals.

Government Waste Is Hit By Grange, Ask Sanity Return

WASHINGTON, Pa., Dec. 15.—

The name of Kenzie I Bagshaw of Blair county, for master of the state grange, was submitted by the nominating committee to the state grange convention here. He will succeed J. A. Boak of New Castle, who has served six years.

The committee urged the 70,000 members of the State Grange to join other farmer groups "in a broad campaign for sanity and economy in government, for a return to the people and their local governments of these powers of self-government taken from them, and for those things which will bring to Pennsylvania a better and more prosperous agriculture."

"Only through economy, so obtained, can taxation be reduced. Only through eliminating such branches or powers of government, can expenses for an unwise and centralized regulation be avoided."

The committee said a review of the Grange's policies "seems opportune" in view of the coming session of the Legislature and the advent of the new administration.

Some time ago it was reported that the parking meters will have been paid for in January, which means that if the collection next year is as good as this year the city will receive about $20,000 from motorists in parking fees. The fees for parking so far have gone toward payment for the meters.

Hell's Kitchen Becomes Refined

One Of Toughest Neighborhoods In New York, Fast Learning Culture

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Dec. 15.—Culture is gradually invading Hell's Kitchen, which once was one of the toughest sections of New York's roaring forties.

Its girls between the ages of 10 and 16 years are attending the Tenth avenue charm school thrice weekly, learning the rudiments of voice-modulation, modifications of make-up and the general technique of becoming a lady.

Miss Maxine Keith and Miss Kiri-lam Lovette, instructors at the school, today revealed that their pupils have shown marked improvement.

Girls who once shouted when they conversed now speak gently. Some who formerly were unable to sit still now recline in ease while they receive manicures and facial massages. General boisterousness has given way to a gracious, courteous manner on the part of most pupils.

Excessive use of rouge is gradually being remedied by the girls, who have also given up plucking their eyebrows.

Arrange Funeral For Pittsburgh Woman, Suicide

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Dec. 15.—A grief-stricken husband made funeral arrangements today for his young, 24-year-old wife, who committed suicide yesterday while lying in a bed only a few feet away from their seven-week-old son.

Police said Mrs. Helen Kruska of Duquesne left a note saying she had been ill and disgusted with life. Neighbors rushed her to a hospital after hearing the sound of a shot in her apartment, but she died a few hours later.

Blind Since Birth, Woman Can Now See

(International News Service)
SEATTLE, Wash., Dec. 15.—"Gott, it is wonderful," was all Mrs. Mary Othoff, Holland-born grandmother, could say today as she viewed familiar objects about her home for the first time in her 65 years of life.

Blind since birth, the cheery old lady was given sight through a delicate cornea transplantation operation.

For the first time she was able to see her children and grandchildren, the streets, buildings, automobiles and all the ordinary things of life struck her with awe.

As soon as she is able, she said, she wants to drive to the country and see a tree.

PREHISTORIC PRINTS
(International News Service)
SANTA FE, N. M.—Fingerprints discovered in the ruins of an ancient home in the Casa Grande National Monument near Coolidge, Ariz., are being studied in an effort to obtain additional information concerning the origin of prehistoric people who lived in the southwest.

Democracy has its little faults, but it can keep going without encouraging a periodic spree of hate.

Union Township Civic Group Has Meeting Wednesday

Constitution And By-Laws Are Adopted At Meeting Held
In School

With over 100 interested citizens, residing in Union township, gathered in the Union township high school building Wednesday night, another successful meeting of the Union township civic organization was held.

Bernard Flynn, committee chairman, presided at the meeting. A constitution and a set of by-laws were officially adopted by the organization during the business meeting.

Many suggestions for the betterment of the township were heard from the floor.

Music during the meeting was furnished by the high school band under the leadership of LeRoy Rowley.

Season Receipts For Football Games

High School Games Bring Higher Receipts Than Had Been Estimated

Football receipts for the past season of the New Castle football team exceeded the estimated receipts, according to a report of the athletic council to the school board Wednesday night. The estimate made before the opening of the season was $15,715. The actual receipts were $18,388.92. To this should be added a balance of $1,429.97 on hand as of July 1, 1938.

At the same time the disbursements for football were lower than the estimate, the estimate being $15,065, and the actual disbursements reported to date $11,892.16. The report shows a balance of $7,974.68 on hand. The athletic council has a sinking fund of some $6,500. Out of the balance on hand must come athletic salaries for the balance of the school year and also disbursements for basketball which are expected to be more than the receipts. There are also a number of outstanding items of expense which must be paid and these will reduce the balance on hand materially.

Among the larger items of disbursing expense during the season were salaries, $2,158.20; guarantees, $3,806.02; officials, police and ticket takers, $1,174.50; equipment, $1,944.25; traveling expense for the team, $600; traveling expense for the band, $375. A number of smaller items complete the total disbursements.

Rochester Man Is Named In Slaying Of Tony Spitale

New Brighton Man Held At Lockport, N. Y., "Puts Finger" On Man In Racket Murder

(International News Service)
BEAVER FALLS, Pa., Dec. 15.—"Louis the carpenter" Tolanto, of Rochester, Pa., was identified today as the second suspect being held in connection with the racket slaying of Tony Spitale last March.

County Detective Charles J. O'Loughlin claimed a statement from Virgil Earl Reynolds, the first suspect, allegedly named Tolanto as the man who fired the shots.

Tolanto, 48, was arrested Monday and held on suspicion, police said.

Detective O'Loughlin quoted Reynolds as admitting he lured Spitale to a lonely spot on the pretext of meeting a woman. Instead, according to O'Loughlin's story of Reynolds' statement, he met Tolanto.

Reynolds, held at Lockport, N. Y. in connection with the slaying of Tony Massaro, 40, of Monaca, last Sunday, was described by Detective O'Loughlin as the man who "put the finger" on Spitale.

Reynolds was said to have admitted the Massaro slaying, pleading "self defense" during an argument over a counterfeit racket.

Spitale, known also as Antonio Agnello, was a truck driver. His wife recently was awarded $10,000 by workmen's compensation referee David B. Roberts for her husband's death.

Hold Five After "Numbers Raid"

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Dec. 15.—Arrested after a brief chase over a hotel rooftop, five men were being held today on a district attorney's detainer after a police raid on what was described as a "numbers writing" headquarters.

One of the five men trapped during the raid was a Joseph Volpe, 25, of Renton. Although he denied he was a member of the gang, he told detectives he was a brother of the three Volpe gangsters who were slain in the Hill district in 1932.

Others arrested were Frank Phillips, 34; Victor Burdell, 24; Armand Zemarek, 21, and John Rogers, 43. Numbers books, accounting sheets and other gambling paraphernalia were seized in the raid.

The men fled to the rooftop of an East Pittsburgh hotel when police rapped on the door. Re-entering the building on another side, they walked directly into the waiting arms of two officers.

Daring Holdup At Pittsburgh Store

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Dec. 15.—A police dragnet was spread today for four armed bandits who coolly executed a daring holdup late last night in full view of more than 100 persons.

At a pre-arranged signal, the quietest covered five cashiers in a super-market, grabbed an unestimated amount of loot and fled. So perfect was their technique that many of the customers in the store did not know a robbery had been perpetrated.

Store officials began an immediate checkup to determine how much was taken.

The robbery was the fourth reported to police yesterday.

Grandfather Slays Wife; Tries Suicide

Domestic Quarrel Results In Tragedy In Home At Carrick

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Dec. 15.—Joseph Dix, 65-year-old Carrick grandfather who slew his wife and then attempted suicide during a domestic quarrel, was reported in a "fair" condition at the hospital today.

Police said Dix admitted the slaying and said he was only sorry that his suicide attempt had failed. Dix, police said, slashed his wife with a razor when she refused to desert their four motherless grandchildren and live with him alone.

A seven-year-old grandson, Joe, discovered the tragedy at noon yesterday when he returned home from school for lunch. He found his grandmother's body sprawled on the floor and his grandfather lying on a couch in a pool of blood.

Police were notified by a neighbor. Dix related what had happened and walked to an ambulance which took him to a hospital. Sixteen stitches were required to close the gash in his throat.

Dix said he struggled with his wife during the quarrel then managed to slash her as she fell on the floor. Walking to the kitchen, he continued, he stood in front of a mirror, ripped his own throat and then returned to the living room couch where he lay down to die.

"When I didn't die right off, I would have cut myself again if I could only have got that razor," he was quoted as saying. "But I was too weak."

Dix's two sons, Al, 42, a truck driver, and Joe, 38, a WPA worker, were grief-stricken. They said he quarreled frequently with his wife during recent months.

Titans To Open With Geneva

Green Floor Team To Represent Westminster This Season

FIRST GAME ON FRIDAY NIGHT

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Dec. 15—Opening a 21-game varsity court schedule with Geneva on the home floor of the Titans, Friday night, Dec. 16, Westminster basketballs will inaugurate a new system of basketball under the guidance of Grover C. Washabaugh, former South high coach, Pittsburgh.

Channing from John Lawther's slow-moving offense and shifting zone-defense, to a fast-break attack and a man-for-man type of guarding, Westminster will tackle the Covenanters with at least three inexperienced freshmen playing their first collegiate basketball. Likely starters for the Titans will include Melvin Miller, veteran junior at left forward, and either James Wilson, All-WPIAL McKeesport, or Russell Yellig, former South high scoring star, at right forward. Both are freshmen, with Wilson setting the pace in pre-season practice games.

Washabaugh's pivot man who must fill the shoes of Wes Bennett and Paul Backus, former Titans' greats at the tip-off game, will be either Joseph Spak, South high freshman, or Charles Ridd, Irwin first-year man. Tom Patton, sophomore letterman, will be a certain choice for a guard post, while Joe Hetra, Penn State transfer, and Charles Miller, Johnstown sophomore, are toss-ups at the other ball-handling position.

Geneva's five, a veteran aggregation, should be equally as good as last year's team, a club which completely stopped a towering Titan team at Beaver Falls in the first of a two-game series.

FALCONS TO PLAY McDONALD TONIGHT

The Polish Falcons will play the strong McDonald, O. All-Stars team at the Falcon hall tonight, it was announced by Manager Gabby Kendra. The Falcon reserves are playing a preliminary game at 7:30 o'clock. The McDonald team won the Mahoning Valley championship last year.

Rambling Around World Of Sports

Union Township high school's basketball hopes suffered a severe blow with the loss of Donald Calazza, center, who is on the sidelines with an attack of appendicitis. Sorry to hear that "Cash" Kozela, former New Castle high basketball flash, suffered a broken nose Sunday. The Polish Falcons lose the services of one of the sweetest cagers in the city. Keith VanFossan, after being on the outside looking in for several years, returns to basketball as coach of the Penn-Power quintet. Van was one of the most enthusiastic sports followers in the city, several years back. New Castle's and Tin Bowl game, New Year's Day, brings together the St. Vitus Cadets and the Jeff Wildcats. The Midget title will be the prize.

Custy Marino, Ellwood City boxer, suffered a third round kayo recently in Erie. Ray Sharkey, Cleveland, who has appeared here, performed the trick over the clever Ellwoodian. Ken Delahanty, former Westminster Titan star cager, is pilot at first collegiate basketball. The Youngstown Shoot and Tube team which recently defeated the local Boosters, was extended to beat the Irwin quintet, which the Boosters dumped. Since defeating Westminster college, the Boosters have been showered with requests for games with district clubs.

Not that it makes any difference but close to 2,000,000 golf balls were turned out in 27 New York University girls' basketball team will play 10 games this season. Since 1883, Fordham football teams have been on the losing end only 97 times. Jimmy Dykes' legs are reputed to be the best in the history of the national pastime. Davey O'Brien and Hale, current flashes on the Texas Christian eleven, came from the same high school in Dallas and have been teammates for eight years. The Jockey Club forbids the use of a name of a horse which has been entered in horse racing's hall of fame. Man O'War and Exterminator come in this category.

Current sport flashes . . . It's a cinch that some 60,000 fans will watch Texas Christian and Carnegie Tech square off on New Year's Day. DePaul university, Chicago, has announced the discontinuance of football, which is a tough break to the lads who like to "pic em. A wonderful full team—to pick against. Joe E. Brown, the Grand Canyon mouthed like fello of movie fame, scored a decided hit at the Notre Dame banquet. Bill Terry is in a betting mood. Hell wager "50" that his Jints outdraw the daffy Dodgers by 100,000 and "50" more that the Jints finish one-two in '39. Pick on someone your size, Bill!

A sports "paragral" . . . Benny Leonard, one of the greatest boxers of all time, tips the beams at better than 190. Joe Zeller, Chicago Bears' guard, has resumed his duties as chief probation officer in East Chicago. From Fair Grounds came the report that friend Art Rooney cleaned up $55,000 on the "rags" a couple of afternoons back. After such a rough gridiron campaign, he needs it. Started off with $2,000. If you like Duke this coming Bowl day, mail the cabbage to a friend of yours in Cal and it'll be covered. The Trojans are being backed up like they never have before, which includes the movie colony.

To Joe: Notre Dame schedule for 1939 is as follows: Sept. 30, Purdue; Oct. 7, Georgia Tech; Oct. 14, Southern Methodist; Oct. 21, Navy at Baltimore; Oct. 28, Carnegie Tech at Pittsburgh; Nov. 4, Army at New York; Nov. 11, Iowa at Iowa City; Nov. 18, Northwestern; Nov. 25, Southern California. Remaining answers will be printed within a day or so.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Although Seabiscuit beat War Admiral once there is talk now of another race which may be staged at Hialeah in February for a purse of $50,000.

Sidney Alter, Pittsburgh, left end for the past two seasons on the Penn State football team, was named captain of the 1939 team, according to reports from State College.

Lou Nova, college-trained Californian will exchange punches with a coal-mine trained Tommy Parr in a 15-round scrap Friday night in New York city.

Relatives Hear From Miss Galvin, China Missionary

Interesting Letter Describing Last Chance Of Escape Is Received

ELLWOOD CITY, Dec. 15.—After three anxious, worried months, relatives of Miss Charlotte Galvin of this city, a missionary stationed in the China interior under the Christian and Missionary Alliance board, have received a welcome letter telling of her safety. As travel is difficult, it took the letter many long weeks to arrive, even though sent by airmail.

Because Miss Galvin is one of the best liked young ladies of this city, her family want her many friends in the county, who have been so much concerned, to know a part of her message.

Receipts of her interesting letter follow: "Chinese soldiers in retreat turn into robber bands and loot as they go, making it dangerous to travel. Often soldiers commandeer cars or boats which are being used by refugees and dump the refugees out wherever they happen to be. Our friends who are leaving tomorrow are going armed to the teeth and we can only pray that they get through safely." That they did is evident by the arrival of the letter which was written on October 31.

"Thursday night, October 20, the British gunboat Robin came from Canton to Wuchow and strongly urged all foreigners to evacuate. Since we have our Bible school students, Christian workers and families with us and have promised to stand by them and give any protection we may, we did not feel that we could leave. At first the British gunboat planned to stand by and give us any protection they could, but later they received word from the British consul for all foreigners to evacuate and to escort three of the British steamers to Canton. Some of the Asiatic and Socony Oil people went, but all the missionaries stayed. Yesterday we stood on the veranda and watched our British steamers and the British gunboat, go down the river in battle formation.

"We do not feel that we are in any danger from the Japanese troops as reports have been that their attitude toward foreigners has been well, but what we have more reason to fear is the Chinese policy of burning the cities to the ground before they retreat. We are in danger of bombing as long as the city has not been taken. Since it has to come eventually, one wishes that the Japanese would come right away and lessen the danger from bombing. Dr. Wallace, a Baptist missionary, who was in Canton at the time of that city's capture, said that the most danger there was from burning and looting.

"You cannot imagine how strange it seems to be cut off from all the rest of the world. Our radio keeps us in touch with the news but if the Chinese retreat they will probably blow up the electric light plant before they leave and then we will be cut off for sure. I am not at all fearful but have committed my life to the Lord and know that He will do whatever seems good to Him."

Hot Finish Is Hard Pressed To Top Inspection

Wins By One Point And Unde-feated Office Bows To Cold Finish In Other Game

ELLWOOD CITY, Dec. 15.—In the last ten seconds of play, the powerful Hot Finish nosed out the luckless bottom place Inspection by the margin of only one point, with the final score reading 42-41, in the Shelby basketball league games played last night.

The Inspection with a limited roster, had only four players available last night but rather than postpone the contest, Greco was borrowed from the Balbo's. When one player was ejected by the personal foul method in the final period the Inspection was required to finish the game with only four players and this was a decided handicap. Despite their difficulties, they played their finest game of the season and made the title contenders turn on the steam to win.

In the other game the Cold Finish handed the undefeated Office its first setback of the season by winning by a score of 47 to 39. With the score 32 to 30 in favor of the Office in the beginning of the final period, the Cold Finish rallied, with Fenechi doing most of the scoring, to chalk up 17 points and put the contest on ice. Fenechi led the winners with 21 points, tying the last year scoring record.

The Hot Finish and Cold Finish are now tied for the first place lead. On Saturday the Cold Draw will play the Office and the Italo Balbo's the Inspection. A dance will follow.

Society Plans Surprise Gift For Missionary

ELLWOOD CITY, Dec. 15.—A special offering to be sent as a surprise gift to a missionary was received at the December meeting of the Women's Missionary society of the First Methodist church on Tuesday evening when Mrs. Harold Snyder welcomed the group at her home, in Sixth street. A special guest was Miss Carson.

Mrs. J. I. Porter had the devotional period after which Mrs. A. O. McCurdy reviewed an interesting chapter of the mission book, "The unchangeables." Mr. G. C. Dennis gave an enjoyable monologue entitled, "My Christmas List."

After a pleasant hour of fellowship, Mrs. Snyder served an appealing lunch. Members will meet again on Tuesday evening, January 10.

The 1939 season will see night baseball in operation for the first time in the American league—at Cleveland and Philadelphia—and all major league clubs will broadcast games. Both circuits also will use a new standard ball and the use of a yellow-covered ball will be optional at any time. Two new rules have been agreed upon—one prevents outfielders from deliberately dropping a fly ball to produce a double play; the second permits a pitcher to put one foot anywhere back of the rubber upon which both feet had to be placed during past seasons.

Heavyweight king Joe Louis arrives in New York today to watch two contenders for his title—Tommy Farr and Lou Nova—battle 15 rounds Friday night.

Margot Lumb of England lifted the Atlantic coast sailing regatta title from Miss Anne Page, of Philadelphia, 15-8, 15-11, at Atlantic City.

Slamming Sam Snead of White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., favored in opening of $10,000 Miami open today. Victory in 72-hole event or second place would lift his year's tournament earnings to more than $20,000.

Squad of twenty-two named to represent north in north-south charity football game.

Bridge at two tables held the attention of the guests with Mrs. Irvin Romack, who will be hostess at her home in Ewing Park on Wednesday evening, December 28, and Mrs. Grace McKee winning the attractive pot score awards. Dainty refreshments were served at an appropriate hour.

Members of the N. E. club were pleasantly entertained last evening by Mrs. Olive Rhea at her home in Hazel avenue, colorful Christmas decorations adorned the home.

With that information on hand, officials are requesting all scoutmasters to appear at the court council with as many qualified assistants as can be obtained.

The same rules govern the meeting. Boy scouts must show registration cards and apply at the desk prepared for the tests or advancement which they desire to pass. Bring your scout handbook for boys.

Louis To Watch Nova And Farr Mix It Friday

Champion Has Been Inactive For Quite Some Time; Meets John Henry Lewis Next

By LAWTON CARVER
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Dec. 15.—The recent idleness of champion Joe Louis and complete lack of class among the active heavyweights, have contributed to the eclipse of the big fellows by pugilists' smaller divisions, but all that is expected to be changed as of today with the arrival of Louis. The facial permanent waving business is about to go into its annual winter boom.

Louis comes to New York for the express purpose of witnessing tomorrow night's 15-round light between Welshman Tommy Farr, seemingly undiscouraged after three defeats here, and Lou Nova, riding high by virtue of his technical knockout over Gunnar Barlund.

Map Out Plans

While in the east Louis will map out plans for the beginning of training at Pompton Lakes, N. J., for his defense next month against John Henry Lewis, the former light heavyweight champion. Louis already has gone through some preliminary conditioning at Hot Springs, Ark., for the start of a four-month campaign next year. John Henry to serve as leadoff man.

His opponent after that may be one of the two men whom he will view with customary pleidity tomorrow night. Promote Mike Jacobs has promised the winner a crack at Max Baer and, if successful there, Louis for the title. Nova may not be interested in any such proposition so early in his career, but Farr definitely is. Louis, Baer and Jim Braddock all look Farr, who now is about to set a record for comeback attempts.

Snead Favorite To Win Tourney At Miami, Fla.

(International News Service)
MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 15.—There were nearly 200 expert shot-makers on hand today to keep Slamming Sam Snead of White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., from hoisting his 1938 golf tournament earnings past the $20,000 mark in the rich Miami open.

Snead, nevertheless, was the favorite to repeat his last year's victory in the $10,000 event as tee off time rolled around with 72 hazardous holes ahead.

He banged out a pair of 67's in the practice yesterday and the day before and appeared to have his clubs clicking with the same mastery he displayed last winter with a four round total of 287 over the par 70 course.

Ranred against him were practically all of goldom's big names and hard money players, including National Open Champion Ralph Guldahl and Johnny Revolta, second place man so far in this year's tourney take.

Overnight Sports

(International News Service)
Cleveland and the Boston Red Sox executed the biggest player deal of the major league meetings in New York today. Outfielder Ben Chapman was traded by Boston for pitcher Denny Galehouse, a right-handed veteran, and rookie shortstop Tommy Irwin. No cash was involved.

Members of the N. E. club were pleasantly entertained last evening by Mrs. Olive Rhea at her home in Hazel avenue, colorful Christmas decorations adorned the home.

With that information on hand, officials are requesting all scoutmasters to appear at the court council with as many qualified assistants as can be obtained.

The same rules govern the meeting. Boy scouts must show registration cards and apply at the desk prepared for the tests or advancement which they desire to pass. Bring your scout handbook for boys.

The Provincial Players have been putting them in the past few nights at their play house on East Washington street. . . a Christmas play with a good moral is just the type to see this time of year. . . we should all do some heavy thinking once in a while. . . it doesn't hurt anyone to think and make a few plans for the future. Even if they don't turn out right, you have the fun of planning. So cheerio Provincial Players. . . may you enjoy better times.

It seems that very few are interested in who the contractor was on the Arlington avenue job. . . but if you want to test your car for squeaks and rattles, that is just the street. . . a very typical wash board road. . . in fact the auto industry may be interested in such a road in the proving grounds.

M. J. Donnelly just wrote us that he attended a dinner in New York. . . the annual dinner of the National Association of Manufacturers at which our friend Anthony Eden spoke. . . four thousand attended the dinner which was $7.50 per plate. . . other speakers on the program were Dean William F. Russell, Ph. D., Ed. D., L.L.D. Teachers College, Columbia University and H. W. Prentiss, Jr., President, Armstrong Cork Co. But we are willing to take the chance and say Mr. Eden took the eye of every one present. A man who can talk.

Looking around town we find several men who are rather clever with tools. . . they are making different things to be used around the home. . . homes in not only New Castle, but homes in every part of the United States. . . we would like to see these men go into their business in a larger scale. . . New Castle wants to help so if you know of any such a person will you please drop this column a line. You know folks we have a lot of smart people in New Castle. Jewish Women Increase Aid

Will Double Budget To Lend Assistance To Desperate Refugees From Abroad

COUNCIL STAFF TO BE INCREASED

Because of the unprecedented emergency caused by political and racial persecution in Germany, Mrs. Maurice L. Goldman, president of the National Council of Jewish Women, New York City, announced today that the Council will increase its service to the foreign born and double its budget in an effort to avert tragedy and lend assistance to desperate refugees. A message has been sent to all Senior Council Sections urging them to exert every effort to raise additional funds to meet a real emergency.

"Letters and cables from Europe are daily bringing frantic appeals for help," Mrs. Goldman said. "Each one is asking to locate some relative in this country who may give assistance for emigration to America. On the other hand, the waiting room of the Council offices filled with anxious relatives who are desperately trying to get information concerning help for families abroad. Within the framework of the immigration laws, Council must continue to give every possible assistance to those who are trapped by the forces of barbarism."

"This increase in the demand for our services has taxed our facilities to the utmost and, with the additional pleas for help that are now coming daily, it is impossible to serve efficiently unless the Council's staff is increased and its services strengthened. When we know that a delay in answering a letter or cable may easily become a question of life and death, there is no time to consider the cost. An organization, which has been responsible for the persecuted of all countries and all creeds for thirty-five years, cannot do less than its best in times of real emergency."

"The Council must continue to befriend newcomers to this country and supervise and guide their activities," Mrs. Goldman concluded. "From the time of arrival until they become integrated American citizens, this work is more important today than ever before. It must be intensified and strengthened throughout the entire country."

CAN HARDLY WAIT FOR MEALTIME

MR. ROBERT PLATZ

When you are constipated and as a result, you have headaches, feel dizzy, tongue is coated, back and leg muscles ache, your digestion is upset so that food lays heavy, forms gas making you feel full, bloated and miserable, you should get Vendol, the well known Root, Herb and Alkaline medicine that has helped so many people suffering this way and see if it doesn't quickly relieve you just as described here by Mr. Robert Platz of 1018 W. 28th St., Erie, Pa.

"I can hardly wait for mealtime since taking Vendol. I had lost desire for food, digestion was poor, nerves on edge, felt tired, achy and out of sorts, but Vendol gave the grandest relief from constipation and all these troubles just passed away and I'm feeling like a new person. I haven't had a headache nor a stomach upset lately, and my sleep rests and refreshes me. Vendol is a great medicine."

Give Vendol a chance to help your troubles like it has thousands of others. Don't put off trying this grand formula of
